Dominic Cordisco is a partner with Drake Loeb PLLC. He began his legal career as the Regional Attorney for Region Three of the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, providing legal services for the agency in areas such as the State Environmental Quality Review Act ("SEQRA"), wetlands regulation, storm water control, and municipal water and wastewater regulation and enforcement. This strong background in environmental matters proved invaluable upon his entry into private practice, where he works with a diverse client base consisting of municipalities and private clients on projects involving land use, development, environmental law, and municipal law issues.

His unique knowledge and experience makes him a sought after lecturer on specialized topics within his practice including SEQRA, wetlands regulation, endangered species, mining, underground storage and oil spills. He appears regularly before the New York Association of Towns, the New York State Bar Association, the New York Planning Federation and the Orange County Municipal Planning Federation. As the Chairman of the Board of Directors for Orange County Partnership, a Member and former Co-Chair of the Alliance for Balanced Growth, and Co-Chair of the New York State Bar Association - Environmental Law Section's Committee on Wetland Regulation, Dominic is at the forefront of the issues affecting his clients.

In 2012, the Orange County Partnership honored Dominic with its MVP Most Valued Partner award, and in 2013 he received the Henry Award for Valley Visionaries from Hudson Valley Pattern for Progress.
